DETAILED ACTION

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 6, 8-11 and 16-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claims 6, 16 and 19 recite the limitation "the timing transmission device (8)". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claims. Claim 8 recites the limitation "the vertical engine" in lines 4-5. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. Claim 9 recites the limitation "the outlet (5)" in lines 3-4. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 17 provides for the use of a cylinder block as a common part, but, since the claim does not set forth any steps involved in the method/process, it is unclear what method/process applicant is intending to encompass. A claim is indefinite where it merely recites a use without any active, positive steps delimiting how this use is actually practiced.

Art Unit: 3747

Claims 17-19 are further rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed recitation of a use, without setting forth any steps involved in the process, results in an improper definition of a process, i.e., results in a claim which is not a proper process claim under 35 U.S.C. 101. See for example Ex parte Dunki, 153 USPQ 678 (Bd.App. 1967) and Clinical Products, Ltd. v. Brenner, 255 F. Supp. 131, 149 USPQ 475 (D.D.C. 1966).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 2, 4-6, 9, 11/9, 12, 17 and 19/17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brecht (US 2,179,709) in view of Iwamoto et al (US 4,665,867). Brecht discloses an engine with a cylinder block for reversible mounting of a water pump as claimed except for details of the water passage. See page 2, first column, lines 25-34 and line 71 to line 3 of the second column. Iwamoto et al teaches that it is known to provide an engine with a side water passage 17 as shown in FIG. 2. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the engine of Brecht to include a side water passage, as taught by Iwamoto et al, in order to provide adequate cylinder cooling. Claims 5 and 19 set forth an intended use regarding a tractor that does not serve to patentably distinguish over the references.

Art Unit: 3747

Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over Aketa et al (US 2003/0056738 A1) in view of Brecht (US 2,179,709). Aketa et al discloses an engine with a side water passage 3 as claimed except for the reversible water pump arrangement. Brecht teaches that it is known to construct an engine cylinder block for reversible mounting of a water pump. See page 2, first column, lines 25-34 and line 71 to line 3 of the second column. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the engine of Aketa et al for reversible mounting of the water pump, as taught by Brecht, in order to accommodate the engine to different uses. Claims 5 and 19 set forth an intended use regarding a tractor that does not serve to patentably distinguish over the references. Regarding claims 3, 16 and 18, the engine of Aketa et al has an oil passage as shown in the drawings and the engine of Brecht includes an oil filter 54.

The applied reference Aketa et al has a common assignee and inventor with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art only under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) might be overcome by: (1) a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not an invention "by another"; (2) a showing of a date of invention for the claimed subject matter of the application which corresponds to subject matter disclosed but not claimed in the reference, prior to the effective U.S. filing date of the reference under 37 CFR 1.131; or (3) an oath or declaration under 37 CFR 1.130 stating that the application and reference are currently owned by the same party and that the inventor named in the application is the prior inventor under 35 U.S.C. 104, together with a terminal disclaimer in accordance with 37 CFR 1.321(c). This rejection might also be overcome by showing that the reference is disqualified under 35 U.S.C. 103(c) as prior art in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a). See MPEP § 706.02(I)(1) and § 706.02(I)(2).
